7. [REDACTED] Talked with Colonel James Brower, Office of Secretary of Defense, Legislative Liaison, regarding the request we had received from the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee staff for a briefing on the developments of the crisis in Czechoslovakia and the status of the situation there at this time. I queried Colonel Brower as to whether he had received a similar request. He said that Ben Gilleas, of the Subcommittee staff, had mentioned the possibility of a Pentagon contribution on this but added that no specific request was made. Brower plans to discuss this with DIA officials but feels if any briefing is to be given it should be given by CIA. I stressed the importance of coordinating any presentations given to this staff and Brower readily agreed.
